

APPLICATION
for
IDAHO APPROVED FEEDLOT

The Idaho Approved Feedlot shall be approved on a yearly basis; however, on written request and after emptying the feedlot of restricted animals, the Approved Feedlot status may be dissolved by request of either party, as provided by IDAPA 02.04.20. Approved feedlot status shall expire on September 1 of each year. It shall be the responsibility of feedlot management to apply each year for renewal of approved status.

The premises for which an application is submitted shall be such that all restricted animals can and will be secured within the feedlot. There are no provisions for pasturing or grazing restricted animals.

Requirements for (re)Approval of Idaho Approved Feedlots:

1. Premises must be inspected by Division of Animal Industry representatives, prior to (re)approval and found to meet all requirements of IDAPA 02.04.20.
2. Owner/Manager of the feedlot must apply for approved feedlot status on application forms available from the Division of Animal Industries or Division of Animal Industry representatives.
3. Approved Feedlot status shall expire on September 1 of each year unless owner/manager makes application for renewal. If the feedlot is not (re)approved, then cattle therein shall be handled as required under IDAPA 02.04.20. Subsection 253.

In the event of approval of the application, the applicant shall agree to the following as per IDAPA 02.04.20. Subsections 250 through 252:

1. To submit the feedlot premises, restricted cattle and the feedlot records to inspection by an agent of the Division at any reasonable time a request is made thereof.
2. To keep accurate records of all restricted cattle. Cattle losses, either by accident, disease, or death, shall be accurately recorded.
3. To pen all bulls separate and apart from all female cattle.
4. All cattle leaving the premises shall be accounted for and released as per IDAPA 02.04.20. Subsection 253, then:

- a. Move directly to slaughter; or
- b. Move directly to a specifically approved stockyard for sale (to slaughter, an Idaho Approved Feedlot, or other qualified destination); or
- c. Be identified on a Certificate of Veterinary Inspection and moved directly to another Idaho Approved Feedlot; or
- d. Be examined and qualified at the feedlot by a veterinarian and removed from the feedlot on a Certificate of Veterinary Inspection.
